Oak

for SATB

Oak is inspired by the idea that once we give names to things, or more usually learn the names of things that have already been named, we care more deeply for them. This piece has been written in a time of trying to connect more deeply with nature through learning about the natural world, particularly through taxonomic names, inspired by my love of the Latin language. I chose to focus on the oak in this piece as it is a symbol of the English countryside (especially the English Oak as in this piece), but it was also a deeply meaningful symbol in Ancient Roman culture.

Names are the way we humans build relationship, not only with each other but with the living world.
Robin Wall Kimmerer, in Braiding Sweetgrass

Text

Lucretius, De Rerum Natura / On the Nature of Things

Men came to use the varied sounds of speech, by taking up the names of things, when talking each to each,
and in what way the awe of the gods slipped into the heart, which on the globe of earth keeps some things sacred and apart:
The altars, shrines, lakes, groves, gods' graven images in art.

quove modo genus humanum variante loquella coeperit inter se vesci per nomina rerum;
et quibus ille modis divom metus insinuarit pectora, terrarum qui in orbi sancta tuetur fana lacus lucos aras simulacraque divom.
